

WEAR IT WILD

FOR YOUR WORLD

WAYS TO WEAR IT WILD FOR CAFES AND BARS 🐾

BAKE IT

Combine wild attire with this firm fundraising favourite. Tasty treats people have conjured up in the past include panda face biscuits and a stripy tiger. Offer a % of the sales to WWF!

QUIZ IT

Quiz nights (or afternoons) are always a popular way of bringing in some extra money and get lots of customers through your doors! Have a round dedicated to a wild question theme.

COIN IT

Keep it simple with a counter top game such as the old favourite of guessing the number of sweets in the jar, asking customers to donate and make a guess, to be in with the chance of winning the contents. Another example is the famous lemon game. Simply place a glass jar filled with water on your counter and float a raw uncut lemon on top. Customers try to balance a coin on the lemon to be in with a chance of winning half the proceeds that end up at the bottom!

SOURCE IT

Host a local produce afternoon, or maybe a cheese & wine night! Reach out to local suppliers to provide stock and ask for a donation from customers to attend.

TOPPLE IT

Maybe you could organise a board games tournament for all the family to come and enjoy at your venue. Ask for tables to donate to use a board game for the hour. Or maybe take things up a notch by utilising your pool table or darts board and let the serious competition begin!

SING IT

If you're able to host live music, ask a local group to perform for the night with donations for entry supporting Wear It Wild. Or how about a karaoke evening with animal theme songs such as 'Wild Thing' or 'Eye of the Tiger'! Animals ears for performers optional...

READ IT

For a quieter activity, maybe look to host a poetry or reading afternoon. Ask a local author to come in for a reading session, asking customers to donate to listen. Or why not host a reading corner for children with a childhood classis such as 'The Tiger Who Came To Tea'!
